Hi,

Sorry for wider distribution. I had to prepare a legal notice regarding my personal blogs shrinivaskannan.blogspot.com and yaska.blogspot.com (both deleted) which were part of astrology and inference algorithm research. During the past one year or more, I felt that above mentioned personal blogs of mine have been deliberately misinterpreted and quoted out of context (as sexist, libelous, extremist etc..) with a likely intention to defame. I am not responsible for any such contrived, perverted meanings understood by the reader.

Appreciate your help in resolving this.

Regards
Shrinivas Kannan

Subject: Statutory Notice regarding my blog shrinivaskannan.blogspot.com and yaska.blogspot.com

This is to inform that my blogs shrinivaskannan.blogspot.com and yaska.blogspot.com, which have since been deleted, were part of my astropsychoanalytical and inference algorithm experiments which I had pursued for some time in the past. Those blogs were purely academic and not meant to hurt the sentiments of some or all of people who I may or may not be familiar with. The contents of those blogs were steganographically encrypted graph data structures (a set of arbitrarily connected linked lists of letters and words) and they do not mean what they mean on first look. Simply put, those blogs convey "no meaning" and I am not responsible for any manufactured meaning understood by the reader - Caveat Lector.

During the past 1 year, I felt that my blogs have been deliberately misinterpreted by few people and out of eventual acrimony those people have tried to cause a damage to my privacy and reputation by distributing my private e-mails to media, politicians and people outside with an intention to threaten me. There has been a scientifically coordinated and orchestrated privacy violation on me which comes under section 66 and 72 of Information Technology Act apart from some sections of Indian Penal Code. I had to do some spamming to gstars group alias till I find out who did that. I apologize to you if I had wasted your time while vigorously investigating this.
